

Twenty-first Sunday in Ordinary Time

August 25, 2019

Strengthen your drooping hands and your weak knees.
Make straight paths for your feet,

My Dear Brothers and Sisters,

As I have shared with you before, the Gospel according to Luke is my favorite of the four gospels. His theological perspective and the themes that he emphasizes are compatible with my feelings about Jesus.

Luke paints a picture of our Lord that is compassionate, forgiving and encouraging. His uplifting style makes his gospel a joy to read, that is most of the time.

Last week's gospel passage is an exception.

The tone of our Lord's message is both negative and harsh:

"Do you think that I have come to establish peace on earth? No, I tell you, but rather division."

These words of Jesus would seem more appropriate in the Gospel of Mark rather than in the Gospel of Luke; but, it is in Luke that we read them.

The fact that we find these words on the lips of Jesus in the most gentle of the four gospels challenges us to deepen our understanding of the cost of discipleship.

The invitation to live in relationship with our Lord is not all sweetness and light. There are times when being a disciple is quite demanding and even painful.

Those of you who have come to know me, know that I would prefer not to reflect on this aspect of discipleship. But, this week's gospel will not allow me to ignore the fact that the Good News is sometimes Harsh News.

Love, Fr. Leo

Today's Readings

First Reading -- Brothers and sisters of every race and language will be brought to Jerusalem (Isaiah 66:18-21).

Psalm -- Go out to all the world and tell the Good News (Psalm 117).

Second Reading -- Strengthen your drooping hands and your weak knees (Hebrews 12:5-7, 11-13).

Gospel -- People from east and west, north and south recline at table in the kingdom of God (Luke 13:22-30).

Faith and the Environment

This fall, Corpus Christi will be hosting an eight-week series called, "JustFaith -- Living Simply: Caring for the Earth." The group meetings will include prayer, reflection, and discussion based on readings and videos about topics such as the challenge of stewardship, ecological footprint, environmental justice, God's planet and the global world, etc. Plans are currently in the works for both a Tuesday morning group and a Wednesday evening group. More information will follow. In the meantime, if you are interested, please contact Ann Naffziger at (510) 521-8011 or: ann@gospelliving.org.

For more information or to join, please contact Catherine Holcombe at: ccteenfaith@gmail.com.

Reflections on the Reign of God!

A threefold message is developed in today's readings. First, everyone is called to proclaim God's glory and receive salvation. Second, salvation is not for the unprepared. Like a loving parent, God gently corrects and disciplines those who have been called. Often, suffering may be part of the formation process. We learn to accept it as Jesus once accepted his cross. Third, some people who are treated with contempt and disdain by the self-righteous actually do have a place in God's kingdom. We need to take these lessons to heart. Recall your initial excitement upon hearing God's word. How has the Good News that once struck your fancy taken deeper root in your life? Look again at the crosses you have been given. How are others transformed when they see how you have accepted and grown from your sufferings? Finally, are there some people you imagine as not invited into God's kingdom? Why do you feel this way about them? For a moment, imagine them on the inside and yourself on the outside. How can this be possible? Always try your best to enter by the narrow gate, gladly proclaiming God's glory.
